

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An optical instrument includes an optical element and a detector for detecting an impurity concentration in an ambience containing a space surrounding the optical element. By controlling the impurity concentration on the basis of an output of the detector, deposition of impurities on the optical element and deterioration of the optical characteristic of the optical element thereby can be prevented effectively.

10

15

20

25

09678255-100300